Undergraduate accommodation: A guide to your options

nottingham.ac.uk/accommodation

Our halls

There are 19 halls of residence for undergraduate students, situated either on or near to each of our three campuses: University Park, Jubilee and Sutton Bonington.

The best way to experience them is to take a tour when you're next on campus for one of our events, but you can also explore your new home from the comfort of your current one, through our student video tour playlist.

Our rooms

There are lots of different room types to choose from – whatever your budget and preferences, there should be one to suit you. Here are some of our most popular:

En-suite

You have your own study bedroom, as well as your own bathroom with toilet, shower and washbasin. If you're in self-catered accommodation, you'll share a kitchen/diner.

Single study

In catered halls, you have your own study bedroom and share bathroom facilities with up to five other people on your corridor. If you're in self-catered accommodation, you'll also share kitchen/diner facilities and two bathrooms with up to six other students in your flat.

Studio

You have a self-contained study bedroom, with kitchen facilities and separate en-suite.

To see photos and videos of all our room types, visit: nottingham.ac.uk/accommodation

Plus rooms

Rooms with 'plus' in the name (eg single study plus, en-suite plus) come with a three-quarter size bed.

A home from home

At Nottingham, our halls of residence are much more than just places to live.

They're communities, each with their own character and lifestyle, making them the perfect base from which to explore your new life in Nottingham.

Representing you in the Students' Union and organising social events, Junior Common Room (JCR) membership is part and parcel of your time in halls, so you'll be sure to have an unforgettable experience.

Moving to university is an exciting time, but we know it can be daunting too. That's why we want to make the move as clear and as smooth as possible.

Our food

The main difference between our halls of residence is the catering options.

Fully catered halls of residence consist of rooms with a mixture of en-suite facilities and shared bathrooms, plus some flats and studios. Pantries are available for a midnight snack and we provide a small fridge in your room.

This option is great for removing the unnecessary hassle of shopping, cooking and cleaning. You can eat breakfast and dinner with your hall friends; and there are social events and formal dinners throughout the year. You also receive a flexible lunch card that can be used at different outlets on our campuses.

Self-catered halls of residence offer flats and studios with a mixture of en-suite and shared bathroom options. Studios are self-contained with their own kitchen; shared flats offer communal kitchens and living spaces. Self-catered halls can offer increased flexibility around your meal times.

At Sutton Bonington Campus we offer a part-catered option for blending social time and flexibility.

How to apply

As a new undergraduate, you're guaranteed a room in your first year, as long as you firmly accept your offer at the University and apply for accommodation by the deadline given.

1. Find out more

You'll find more details about all our halls, including photos of each room type, on our website: nottingham.ac.uk/accommodation

2. Apply online

Check our website for the date on which our online form goes live – you'll need a firm offer and your UCAS Personal ID to complete registration.

3. Choose your preferences

You'll be able to select your preferences based on location (including zones), room type, catering, cost and contract length, and we'll try our best to meet one of your top ones.

4. Apply early

Rooms are allocated by date order, so we recommend you apply as soon as you can once you have firmly accepted your offer (please allow 24 hours after accepting with UCAS before applying).

5. Receive confirmation of your application

You'll receive an email confirming your application and guarantee of accommodation straight away.

6. Accept your offer and its terms and conditions

You'll be sent further details about your accommodation as soon as possible – once you get your offer, make sure you read its terms and conditions before accepting.

Jubilee Campus

Life on Jubilee is great for studying and socialising, with a huge range of facilities right on your doorstep. The compact campus means everything you need is within walking distance, including a fully equipped sports centre, coffee shops and a convenience store, and the city centre is just a few minutes away by bus.

There are two undergraduate halls on Jubilee – Newark (13) and Southwell (14) – and both are lively places to live. Both halls offer modern, en-suite rooms, laid out in corridors shared with other students.

Our accommodation offers a secure, supportive environment, and each hall has a manager, wardens and tutors for confidential support – they'll all get to know you and make sure you feel safe. There's also 24-hour security for added peace of mind.

University Park Campus

University Park is the hub of student life. From world-class teaching and research facilities to the Students' Union, an arts centre and museum, shops and bars, as well as the brand-new David Ross Sports Village, everything the University has to offer is right on your doorstep.

Split into four zones – North, Central, West and Sports – there are 12 undergraduate halls on University Park, each with their own facilities and all situated within easy distance of everything the campus has to offer.

In catered halls, your room is cleaned fortnightly and communal bathrooms each weekday. In self-catered, the communal kitchens and bathrooms are cleaned either weekly (Albion House/Broadgate Park) or fortnightly (Raleigh Park/St Peter's Court). At Bonington Student Village, your kitchen is cleaned twice a week.

Broadgate Park and Albion House operated by UPP

Broadgate Park (17) is in the lively town of Beeston and just across the road from University Park's West Entrance. It's really close to bus and tram stops, with regular links to the city centre.

Sutton Bonington Campus

The 100-acre Sutton Bonington Campus sits on the border of Nottinghamshire and Leicestershire. Its countryside location makes it an ideal home for the Schools of Biosciences and Veterinary Medicine and Science.

The campus has everything you need for day-to-day student life, including a library, cafe, dining hall, Student Service Centre, and sports centre. There's also a regular, free hopper bus service to University Park and Jubilee Campuses, so it's easy to get around.

Bonington Student Village, which is spread across the campus, is part-catered, meaning that five meals a week are included in the price of accommodation during term-time.
